For Dialogue and a Workshop on:

Building Community on Campus

On August 29, in his address to the university community, President Judd emphasized the need for all CCSU community members to refocus our efforts on building a campus community that embraces and values racial diversity and all aspects of human difference. Towards this end, you are invited to participate in two afternoon events.

On October 15, Lee Mun Wah, director and producer of the award-winning film, The Color of Fear, will be on campus to engage students, faculty, and administrators in dialogue around building community on campus.

2:00- 3:00 A Faculty Conversation Connecticut Room

Lee Mun Wah will meet and conduct a conversation with faculty members interested in enhancing the classroom community by creating safe environments for the expression of feelings and thoughts on human diversity. Refreshments will be served.

3:30- 6:00 Campus Community Building Workshop Constitution Room

Lee Mun Wah will conduct a workshop on community building. Through the use of The Color of Fear videotape and group dialogue, participants will learn about systemic biases, the impact of all forms of discrimination on individuals and the institution, and how to build multicultural alliances.

***Refreshments will be served at both events.*****

This afternoon of activities is sponsored by the Center for Multicultural Research and Education, the School of Education and Professional Studies, and the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs.

Seating for both sessions is limited. If you plan to have your students attend the 3:45 Campus Community Building Workshop and/or you wish to attend the 2:00 Faculty Conversation, please contact Penny Lisi, Department of Educational Leadership, at 22137, or lisip@ccsu.edu, to reserve spaces.
